POLICE INSPECTOR KILLED IN FIGHT WITH FUGITIVE

Lawrence Robinson Seriously Wounded Trying to Escape Arrest in Boston.

BOSTON, June 19.—Police Inspector Thomas F. Norton was shot fatally today in a sensational revolver battle while attempting to arrest Lawrence Robinson, wanted in Grand Rapids, Mich., on charges of murder and robbery. Robinson was taken to a hospital suffering from three bullet wounds. He probably will recover. His companion, Joseph F. Daniels, was locked up on a charge of murder. The inspector died soon after reaching the hospital.

The shooting occurred in a crowded basement restaurant. Private detectives who had trailed Robinson enlisted the aid of Norton and two plain clothes officers. Entering the cafe they found Robinson sitting at a table with Daniels.

When the police inspector placed his hand on Robinson's arm a shot said to have been fired by Robinson struck Norton in the abdomen.

Leaping over the body, Robinson darted for the stairway leading up to the street. Three shots from the officers' weapons struck him as he reached the steps. Although severely wounded he emptied his revolver in the direction of the detectives and reached the street, where a mounted policeman overpowered him.

Inside the cafe meanwhile the detectives had grappled with Daniels and had arrested him. Throughout the shooting, while diners sought shelter behind overturned chairs and tables, a young woman pianist made a brave effort to play a popular air.

Charged with Jewelry Robbery.

Grand Rapids, Mich., June 19.—Lawrence P. (Chippy) Robinson is wanted in Grand Rapids in connection with the robbery of the Thomson jewelry store last September, in which three men were shot and killed by two robbers who escaped with about $2200 worth of diamonds.

Walter Lawrence, arrested in Covington, Ky., three months ago, is being held here to answer to the same charge. The police allege Lawrence and Robinson were in Grand Rapids together when the jewelry store was robbed.

Rewards totaling $7500 have been offered for arrest and conviction of the murderers.

Hooker of Tecumseh, Okla., insurgent candidate. Daniel Horn of Davenport, Ia., was re-elected head adviser, and John D. Volz of Indianapolis, Ind., was chosen head banker. Other officers elected were:

PASSENGERS FIND BERTHS ARE FEW

Must Accept Substitutes for Standard Accommodations in Rush Seasons.

Salt Lake has less Pullman accommodations than any city of its size, it is said, between the Mississippi and the Pacific. In rush seasons, railroad men assert, passengers are often refused standard accommodation, as the berths are all sold east and west of Salt Lake, and passengers have to content themselves by waiting for later trains or making reservations in advance. There is only one through car to the east from Salt Lake daily, and there is a through car to San Francisco on the Southern Pacific section of the Pacific Limited. All railroads give the same predicament as regards lack of Pullman accommodations. All cars are routed through Ogden on either St. Louis, Chicago or Denver to the Pacific coast and all eastbound cars originate there either San Francisco or Los Angeles.

All Berths Taken.

On the Los Angeles Limited Tuesday night not a berth in the train was taken. Passengers who applied for accommodations were sold tourist car tickets, upper berths at that, and were instructed to see if the conductor on the train could provide them with standards as no telegraphic information had been received at the local railroad office as to the space occupied space. The Chicago & Northwestern has complete charge of all the Pullman space in the Los Angeles Limited and may sell out the entire complement of berths on the train leaving Chicago without regard to Salt Lake. At least ten persons made application for space on the Los Angeles Limited yesterday and could obtain nothing better than upper tourist car berths.

On the Overland express leaving Salt Lake at 11:45 at night for Los Angeles there is always Salt Lake space as the train starts from here but on the Pacific limited the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul has control of all the space leaving Chicago and Salt Lake must take pot luck on the berths which are not sold. All eastbound cars are under the jurisdiction of either Los Angeles or San Francisco and many of the cars which are transferred to the Southern Pacific at Ogden are under control of middle western roads.

No Accommodations.

The Oregon Short Line has plenty of space in its cars bound to Butte, Boise and Portland from Salt Lake but the Union Pacific system, Salt Lake Route and Denver & Rio Grande do not have sufficient space to care for the traveling public during the busy season. Many tourists who stop over in Salt Lake without having made reservations in advance find that it is impossible to obtain adequate Pullman accommodations on the best trains either east or west bound. Reservations from Salt Lake east or west which are made two days in advance can be cared for by the railroads but the heavy traffic precludes the passenger who does not reserve his berth.

A special car may be rented from the Pullman company for $45 a day. Ten passengers desiring to go to Los Angeles or Chicago or Denver would pay more than the flat day rate charged by the Pullman company, yet extra cars will not be attached to the trains. Some time ago there was a movement on foot to obtain better Pullman accommodations from Salt Lake both east and west bound during the busy season but it was dropped.

MISS WILSON PROPOSES TO HAVE SCHOOLMASTER SERVE IN DOUBLE ROLE

Madison, Wis., June 19.—The employment of school principals as civic secretaries to direct the social and recreational activities of the communities in which they live was urged tonight by Miss Margaret Wilson, daughter of the President, as the next step in the development of the social center movement.

Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Gilman of New York disagreed with Miss Wilson as to the advisability of making the schoolmaster assume the double role. The secretary should be the "best mixer" in the community, she said. They both spoke at the capitol at a meeting preliminary to the first national conference on civic secretaryships as a feature of public service to be held here in July.

"We have our schoolhouses thrown open by law to the community in many states," said Miss Wilson. "And we need some agency to beckon us into the buildings."

"I foresee the time when schoolmen will be the greatest force in the community, when by them shall be co-ordinated the education of children and that of the parents. The business of directing the work should be done by a paid public servant, to be remunerated out of the public funds."

UTES AND NAVAJOS WILL HAVE TO FOREGO THEIR SUN DANCE THIS YEAR

Official Ban Is Placed on Ceremonial by Federal Indian Commissioners.

Indians on the Uintah reservation will not be permitted to give the Sun dance this year because of orders issued by Cato Sells, Indian commissioner at Washington. The braves have been looking forward to holding the dance, but a dampener has been put on their ambition to show off their powers of endurance. The annual big event of the Ute Indians known as the Sun dance has been placed under the official ban.

The Sun dance as celebrated by the Ute Indians is a religious ceremony," said C. B. Cook, editor of the Vernal Express at Vernal, who was in Salt Lake recently. The Indians dance to obtain the favor of the Great Spirit.

The stock transfer books of the corporation will be closed on June 20, 1914, and reopened for transfers on July 2, 1914.

By order of the board of directors.
SOLON SPIRO, President.
G. W. GROWNING, Secretary.
Salt Lake City, Utah, June 10, 1914.

The extreme features have been eliminated and it will be a sad blow to them not to be permitted to hold their dance.

Learned It From Sioux.

"The Sun dance is not original with the Utes, but was brought to them by the Sioux. When it was first introduced among them it contained the old cruel features of self-torture. Even now it is an endurance trial, but it is not extreme. It is the big ceremonial event of the year when the Navajos visit the Utes, and to which the Indians look forward with such eagerness.

"About five years ago Capt. C. G. Hall, who was agent, decided that there should be a time limit placed on the dance and he decreed that thereafter the dance should terminate at the end of four days. Last year D. D. Martin, agent, cut the limit to three days. Even this was a disappointment. Martin says the dance takes too much of the Indians' time and gets them excited.

"The dance is worth going miles to see. Only during late years have the tribes allowed white men to see the dance, and now they charge admission. Preparations consume no small amount of time. The Indians get the big Sun dance pole, which is about twenty feet high, and plant it firmly in the ground. From the top of this there are thirteen poles extending until they are about a foot above the heads of the dancers. There is then built an enclosure that is about thirty feet in diameter. Stalls are built inside this and the braves dance there day and night until they are exhausted. Sometimes there is one dancing alone or sometimes as many as a dozen, although they generally dance in pairs. Squaws sit around in the enclosure and watch their particular braves and encourage them.

"It seems to me that the Indians are getting the worst of the deal. The government owes them more than $3,000,000 for land grants in Colorado, and last winter 122 of the Indians signed a petition, which was presented to the commissioners of Uintah county, asking for food. I know that many suffered from hunger. They have good land, but do not know how to work it to advantage, and they will not be benefited by having their dance privilege taken away."

INCREASED SHIPMENTS OF MELONS EXPECTED

Because of the increased acreage under cultivation in the melon growing districts of Moapa and Las Vegas, Nev., the shipment of fruit from these two districts this year will be nearly double what it was last year, according to Salt Lake dealers, who are planning ahead and have inquired into conditions in the fruit raising country. Small shipments of both watermelons and cantaloupes from the coast already have been received in Salt Lake this year, but the regular season's supply in that line will start with express shipments from the Nevada districts during the first part of next week, say the dealers, and the total number of cars received here will be between 250 and 300. Moapa and Las Vegas watermelons and cantaloupes are noted for their keeping qualities and are sometimes sent as far east as New York, though the greater number of them are sold to western markets, Salt Lake being the chief buyer.

THE stores grow in interest all the time. Never before in the city's history were they so alluring as now—never have they shown such a wide variety of attractive things, of the newest ideas that contribute to the liveliness of life. You'd realize this fact by reading the "ads." You'd realize it more fully by visiting the stores that advertise.
